

MARKUS BROCK

Versatile TV and Event Presenter

Markus Brock is a 3sat and SWR television presenter. He has been working as a presenter for over 30 years – hosting talkshows and presenting magazines as well as reports like “MuseumsCheck” for 3sat and Deutsche Welle.

Markus started his career as one of the popular voices of SWF3, where he has worked for ten years before swapping the microphone for the camera. He was a presenter for arte and ZDF and the head of the primetime talk show “SamstagAbend” and the SWR “Landesschau Baden-Württemberg” for many years.

Since 1997, he has also been a much sought-after presenter for events of all kinds - online and offline, virtual and hybrid - and has been on stage at congresses, discussion rounds, award ceremonies or galas for ministries, associations, companies, universities, cooperatives, cultural institutions and many others. He works professionally and enthusiastically on a wide variety of topics.

In addition to culture, his areas of expertise include education, business and science - not only live on the big stage, but also in virtual conferences and at online events.

Since 2014, Markus Brock has also been a trainer for moderation, presentation, self-confidence and dealing with the media at the Burda School of Journalism, various universities, the Moderatorenschule Baden-Württemberg and the LernraumAkademie.
