This energising, practical and inspiring session will challenge existing thinking around performance improvement revealing readily available human resources, that once engaged, can have a dramatic impact on our ability to thrive, instead of survive the stresses and pressures of corporate life. With increasing complexities presented by changing work environments, technological advancements and environmental changes, leaders and their teams are under continuous pressure to do more with less. The need for improved mental, physical and emotional wellbeing, and the ability to inspire a resilient mind-set has never been greater.

Whether focusing on performance improvement, change management, leadership development or building high performing teams, Jim's speeches provide strategies for releasing potential and exceeding performance expectations. You can judge by your results.
