
CORINNA WOHLFEIL

TV Presenter

As a former banker, Corinna Wohlfeil is an expert on stock exchange and finance, which she demonstrates on her daily German TV-newscasts "Maerkte am Morgen" (Markets in the Morning) and "Teleboerse".

After her graduation and studies focusing on the banking industry, she began her career as an investment adviser at Deutsche Bank. Following that, Corinna coached banking colleagues and managers for public appearances and presentations.

In 1997 Deutsche Bank found their own Business-TV and made Corinna project manager and the main presenter. Four years later she switched to the German news TV program "n-tv", as editor and presenter.

As a financial expert with strong communication and presentation expertise, Corinna is in great demand as a presenter for company events.
