

Top Economist
Philosopher of Economics
Author of Economics of Good and Evil

Tomas Sedlacek is THE international star economist and one of the most talented and exceptional experts. He gained international fame for his award-winning, bestselling book "Economics of Good and Evil: The Quest for Economic Meaning from Gilgamesh to Wall Street" which was translated into more than 20 languages and received the prestigious German "Wirtschaftsbuchpreis" at Frankfurt Book Fair for its original philosophical contribution to economics. In Switzerland, Tomas Sedlacek was listed among the top 100 influential global thinkers (Top 100 Thought Leaders, GDI).

Born in 1977 in Prague, Czech Republic, Sedlacek grew up in Helsinki, Finland, and was educated in Copenhagen, Denmark. At the age of 24 Sedlacek became an economic advisor of Czech president Václav Havel till the end of his term in office. He went back to academia and has written case studies with Harvard University and Georgetown University. Latter he served as a non-political economic advisor to the Minister of Finance and deputy Prime Minister of the Czech Republic, responsible for fiscal reform, pensions and health care reform and number of tax reforms like VAT, personal income tax and corporate tax. He was responsible for negotiations with The World Bank and OECD. He toured the world on a roadshow for the inaugural Czech Eurobond emission. Latter he received fellowship at Yale University as a Yale World Fellow 2006, during this time Yale Economic Review ranked him among the Five Hot Young Guns in Economics. For sixteen years, he worked as a Chief Macroeconomic Strategist at a major Czech bank, CSOB. Later he became a long term member of the National Economic Council, an advisory body to the Government of Czech Republic (NERV).

Tomas Sedlacek was a member of the Program Council for New Economic Thinking of World Economic Forum that meets in Davos and a member of an advisory body to EC president Barroso on New Narrative for Europe. He lectures at Charles University, and Metropolitan University Prague and sits on boards of many non-profit organizations. For sixteen years he has been publishing weekly columns in major economic newspapers, which got later published in a book trilogy "Second Derivative of Desire".

A widely sought-after media commentator and an entertaining and engaging speaker for London Speaker Bureau, Tomas travels the world to debate burning questions of current economics with glitch mirrors from the deepest mythological past, philosophies and beliefs which he likes to combine with a wide variety of other fields.

Topics (Selection):

- Current Macroeconomic Trends: The Big Picture
- The Great Metamorphosis - Brief History of Economy and its Future
- The Body, Soul and the New Spirit of Europe
- War Economy - Attack on EU at the borders of Ukraine
- Brief History of Economy: Two Megatrends Behind Wealth of Nations
- Body, Soul and Spirit of your Company: Creative and Strategic Thinking
- New economic thinking
- Literature, movies, myths and economics
- Economics of Good and Evil

Publications (Selection):

- Economics of Good and Evil: The Quest for Economic Meaning from Gilgamesh to Wall Street by Sedlacek, 2012