

MIRIAM HÖLLER

Former Stuntwoman and Entrepreneur

Miriam Höller made an impressive career as a stuntwoman. Making decisions courageously, accepting change, growing and learning - Miriam Höller shows in her inspiring lectures that we can all fly - if we don't lose our wings.

Miriam Höller (*1987) has made a steep career as a much sought-after stuntwoman after finishing secondary school and training as a sports and fitness merchant. In 2010, she has become known nationwide through her participation in Heidi Klum's PRO7 show "Germany's Next Topmodel".

In 2016, at the peak of her career, she broke both her feet after more than ten years without an accident in her profession. The injuries were so severe that she had to give up her dream job. Six weeks later, her great love died in an accident: aerobatics world champion Hannes Arch crashed with his helicopter. But Miriam Höller has not given up, but has decided to grow with the challenges. She has successfully returned to the public stage as a presenter and speaker.

Today, Miriam Höller conveys the power of her personal story as a keynote speaker in her emotional speeches. She inspires her listeners to be more courageous and more willing to change and she inspires with her joy of life and her many years of experience as a star stuntwoman and as the head of her own stunt team. Miriam Höller is authentic and charming at action-packed major events as well where the quiet tones are needed.
