
RENÉ BORBONUS

Leading Expert on Professional Education Communication Coach

René Borbonus is one of the leading communication experts and one of the best rhetoricians of the German language. He is a communication trainer, book author, coach and speaker who moves the interface between theory and practice and combines objectivity and enthusiasm in speech and conversation like no other.

After completing an apprenticeship as a banker he studied German, politics and psychology. In 1997 he has started his career in further education and founded Communico GmbH in 2000.

René Borbonus discovered his passion for language early on and took his first rhetorical steps as a wedding speaker, moderator and speechwriter. Today he is one of the leading specialists for professional communication and guides executives, entrepreneurs and other public figures to their personal appearance. He coaches members of the Bundestag, leads trainings and receives teaching assignments from renowned universities.

He inspires his audience with a masterful combination of expert knowledge and practical relevance, objectivity and commitment, linguistic wit and charisma.
